Who Can Get the Green?

By Neil Kerr

Clad in their traditional deep green uniforms, Section Eight's powerful wrestling team convincingly decided all other New York State sections, scoring a record 194 points at last year's 14th annual Inter-sectional Tournament here.

The Nassau County (L.I.) terrors produced five champions — Bob DeStefanis of Locust Valley at 98, Bob Bury of Calhoun at 105, Jim Slattery of Island Trees at 132, Lee Spiegel of Mepham at 145 and heavyweight Steve Insalaco of Farmingdale — en route to its seventh team title in 14 years.

Now the question is, will Section Eight repeat?

Probably. For openers, the big "Green Machine" returns two champions, DeStefanis (now at 105) and Bury, up to 112. Bury was named "Most Outstanding Wrestler" at last weekend's Nassau County meet and is 24-0 for the year.

Additionally, the big Green expects to receive points from such stalwarts as 91-pound Al DeStefanis (24-1), younger brother of Bob; 98-pound Lindsay Biagini (25-1), runnerup at 91 last March; 119-pound Ed Pidgeon (20-1) of Locust Valley, 126-pound Ed Fiorvanti (29-0) of Massapequa, 132-pound Bob O'Connor (25-0) of Plainedge, 138-pound Rick Cavayero (24-0-1) of Bellmore JFK, 155-pound Dom Macchia (26-1) of Island Trees and 177-pound Rich Potter (20-0) of Carey. Others wearing the Green aren't to be sneezed at.

Section Eight will be tough to beat.

Challenging for team honors (in order) may be Sections Six (Western New York), Five (Rochester area), Eleven (Suffolk County, L.I.), host Three, Four (Binghamton-Ithaca area) and Nine (Lower Catskills).

From Western New York's snow country comes defending state 126-pound king Kyle Grunwald of Pioneer Central. Grunwald, unbeaten and still recovering from a bad auto accident two weeks ago, is favored at 138 this year. Aiding Grunwald will be national AAU Greco-Roman champion John McHugh (29-0) of Sweet Home at 98, returning Larry Cohen (30-0, 5th last year) from Williamsville South at 112, returning Terry Miller (27-0, 3rd at 145 last year) from Portville at 155, returning Dave Simon (32-0-1) of Olean at 177, plus powerful Bill Anderson (33-0) of Orchard Park at 215. Watch out, Section Eight.

The Rochester region features a trio of excellent lightweights — Rory Lagacy (23-1) of Bishop Kearney at 91, returning Wayne Johnson (26-3, transfer from Schalmont-2) of Spencerport-5 at 98, and returning Don St. James (29-0) of Rush-Henrietta Sperry at 105.

Section Eleven is led by rugged 177-pounder John Plante (27-0), a member of coach Joe Campo's unbeaten, Brentwood Ross team which was No. 1-ranked in New York State this winter by New York State Sports Writers Association. Ross has lost one dual meet the last 12 years.

Host Section Three points to returning 112-pound John Elmer (29-2, 3rd last year) of Bishop Ludden, returning Jeff Virkler (at 105 here two years ago) of Beaver River at 119, Barry Barone (106 career wins) of Westhill at 126, unbeaten junior Tom Pickard (31-0) of Baldwinville at 132 and our "MOW", Rick Roberts (28-0) of South Jefferson at 155.

Section Four features the incomparable Mark Iacovelli (131-1-1) of Ithaca at 119, Stash Elinsky (32-0) of Deposit at 145, John Dougherty (29-0) of Tioga at 177 and football star George Swan (33-0) of Elmira Free Academy at 215.

Section Nine features returning Paul Margulies (23-0) of Tappan Zee at 98 plus the terrible Banach Brothers of Port Jervis — Ed (30-0) at 155, Steve (30-0) at 167, and Lou (30-0) at 177. Senior Steve plus juniors Ed and Lou (twins) are well worth watching.

This weekend, four defending champs return — DeStefanis and Bury of Long Island, Grunwald of Pioneer and, of course, two-time king Iacovelli.

To the outstanding wrestler will go a trophy, awarded jointly by the New York State Sports Writers Association and the New York State Wrestling Coaches Association, for the eighth straight year. The previous winners were 215-pound Mike Phillips of Cooperstown-3 in 1970, 145-pound John Cuyler of Elmira Free Academy-4 in 1971, 177-pound Dwight Cartwright of Keshequa-5 in 1972, 177-pound Greg Stevens of Fulton-3 in 1973, 138-pound Frank DeAngelis of Spencerport-5 in 1974, 155-pound Keith Stearns of Pioneer-6 in 1975, and 119-pound Robin Parker of Caledonia-Mumford-5 last March. Stevens is now at Iowa University, DeAngelis and Stearns compete for the University of Oklahoma.

Also at stake will be a school trophy, for the high school team earning the most points. Leading contenders should be Peru-7 (eight qualifiers), Port Jervis-9 (the Bruising Banachs), Olean-6 (four qualifiers), Tappan Zee-9 (four qualifiers), Fairport-5 (four matmen here) and Locust Valley-8 (three excellent wrestlers). Peru's eight champs equals the record set last year when coach Lou Giani's Huntington-11 Blue Devils sent eight qualifiers here and won the school trophy.

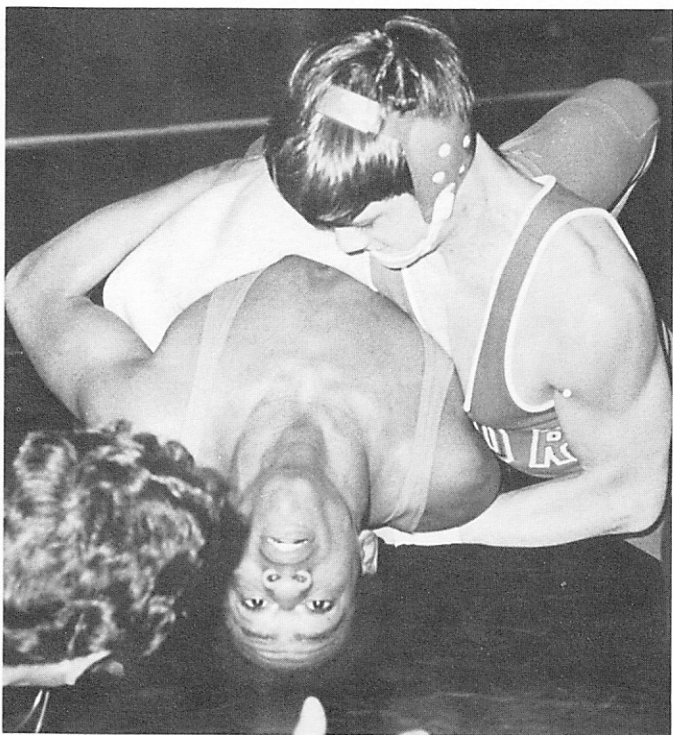

Again this year, no pre-meet seedings were issued with pairings drawn from a hat. This practice is the fairest possible although it does mean that two or three top wrestlers could be placed in the same bracket. For that reason, wrestlebacks were introduced into the tournament five years ago.

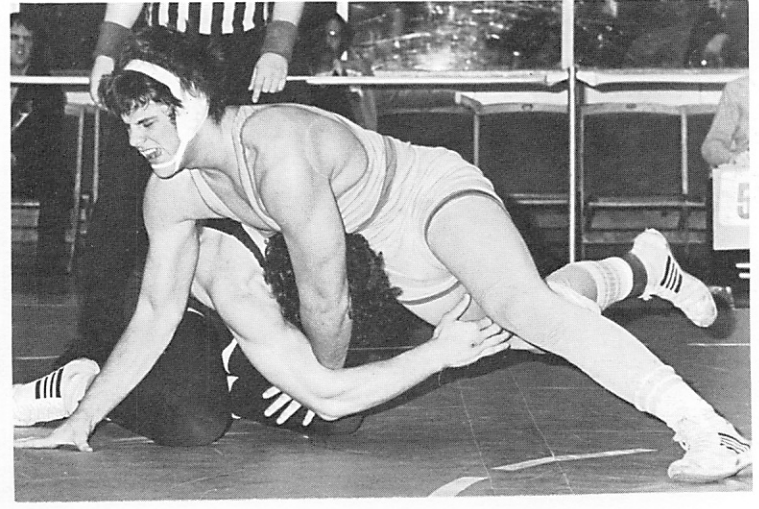

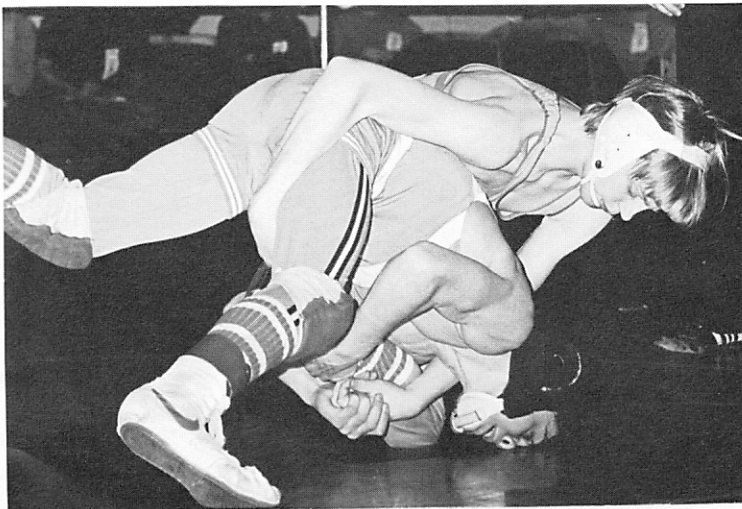

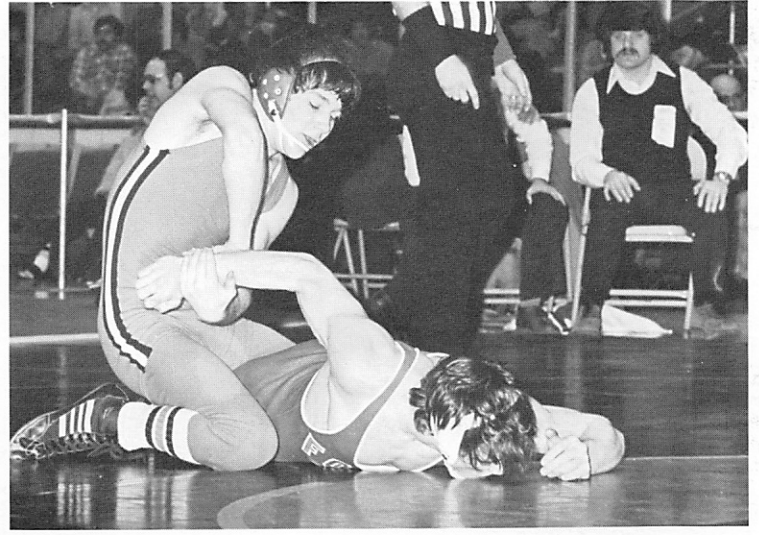

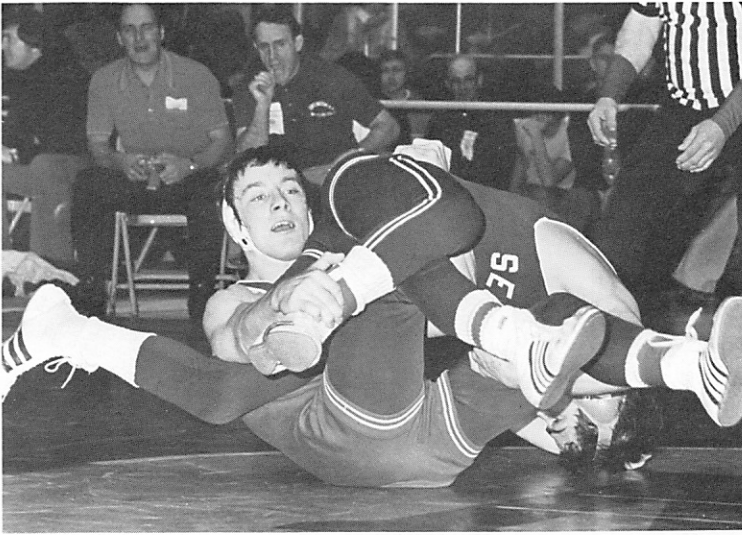

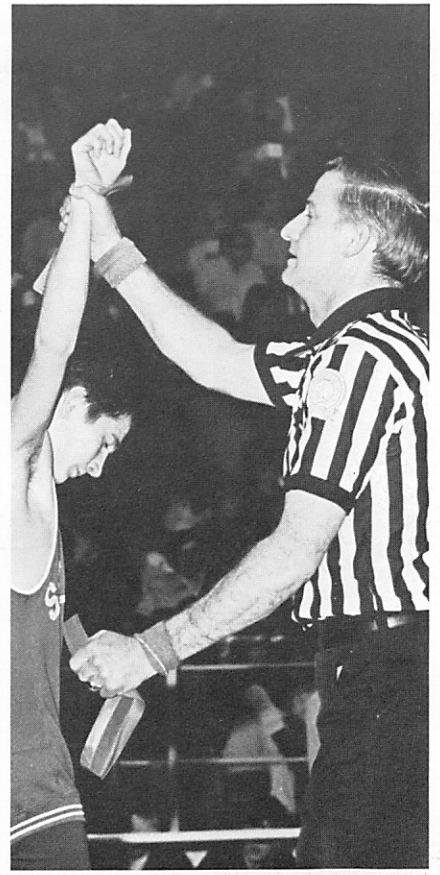

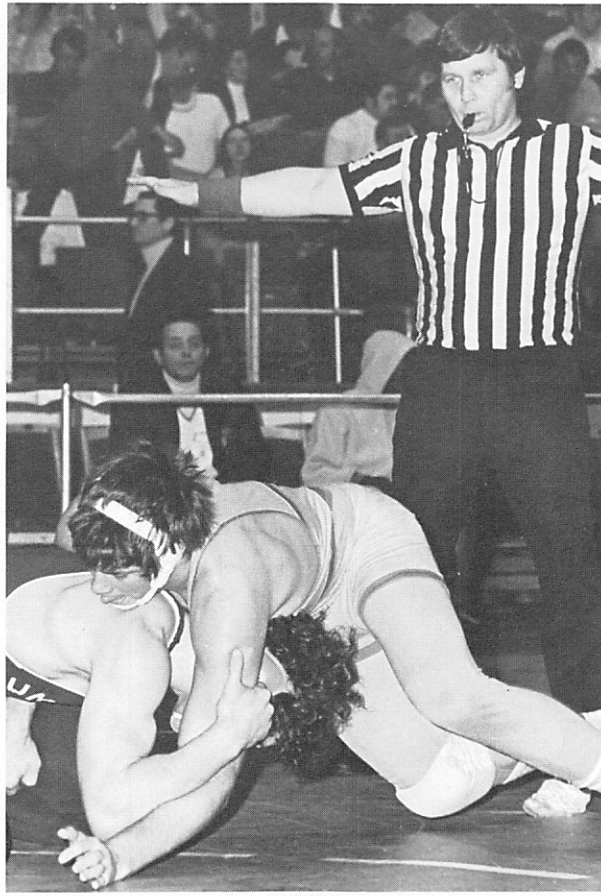

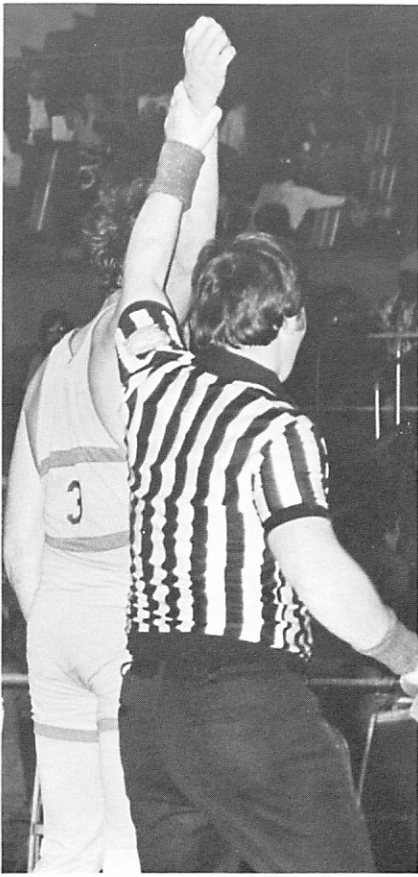

Today, to all teams and wrestlers, we in Central New York extend our congratulations for having earned a trip to the New York State Inter-sectional Tournament. Good luck, and we hope that you enjoy your state finals, win or lose.

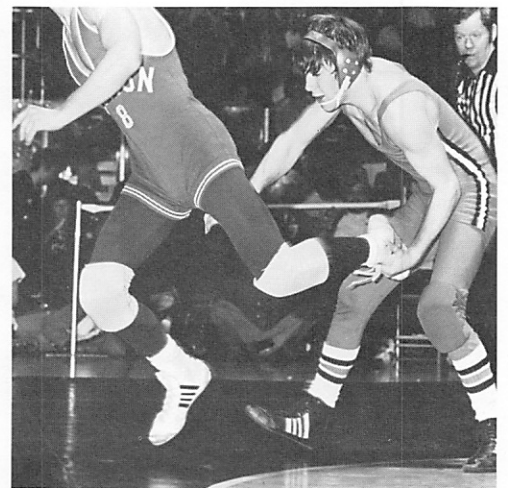

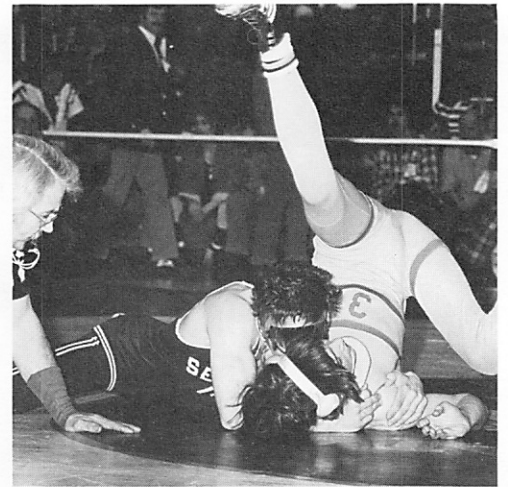

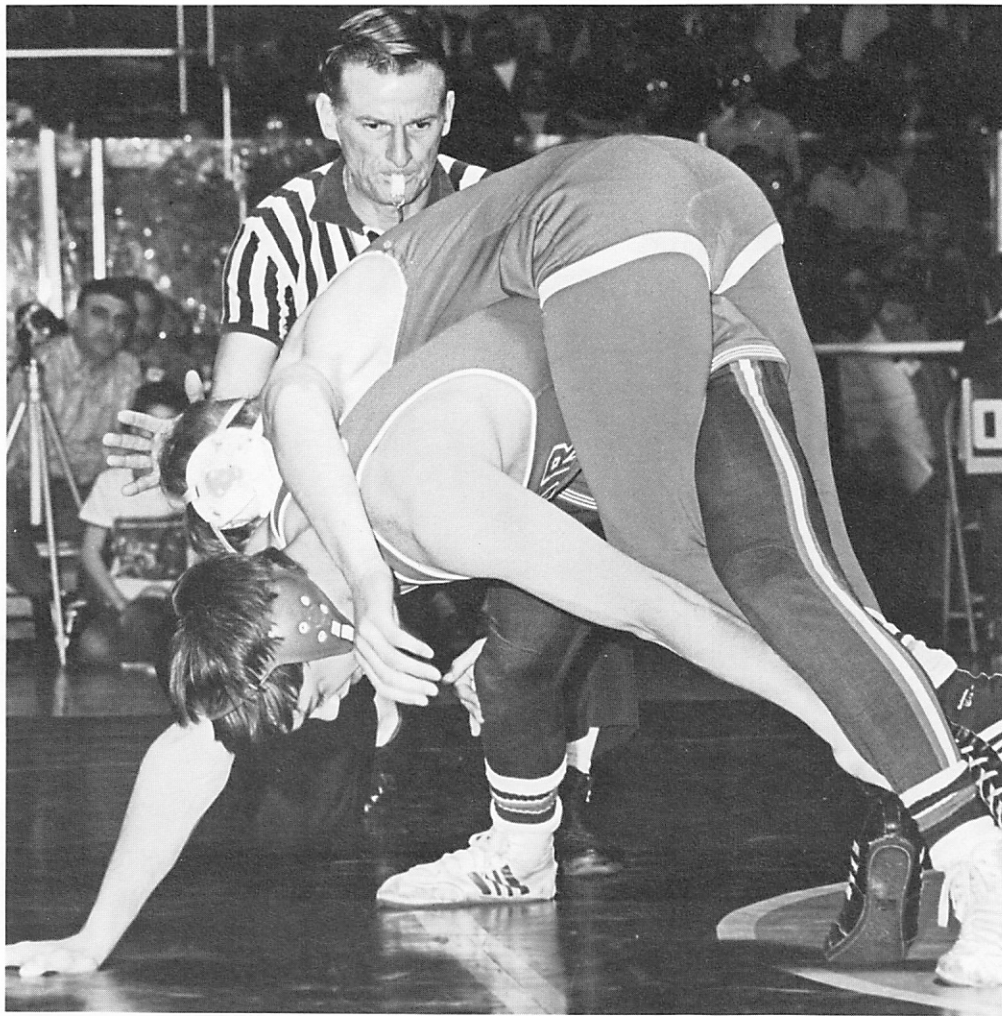

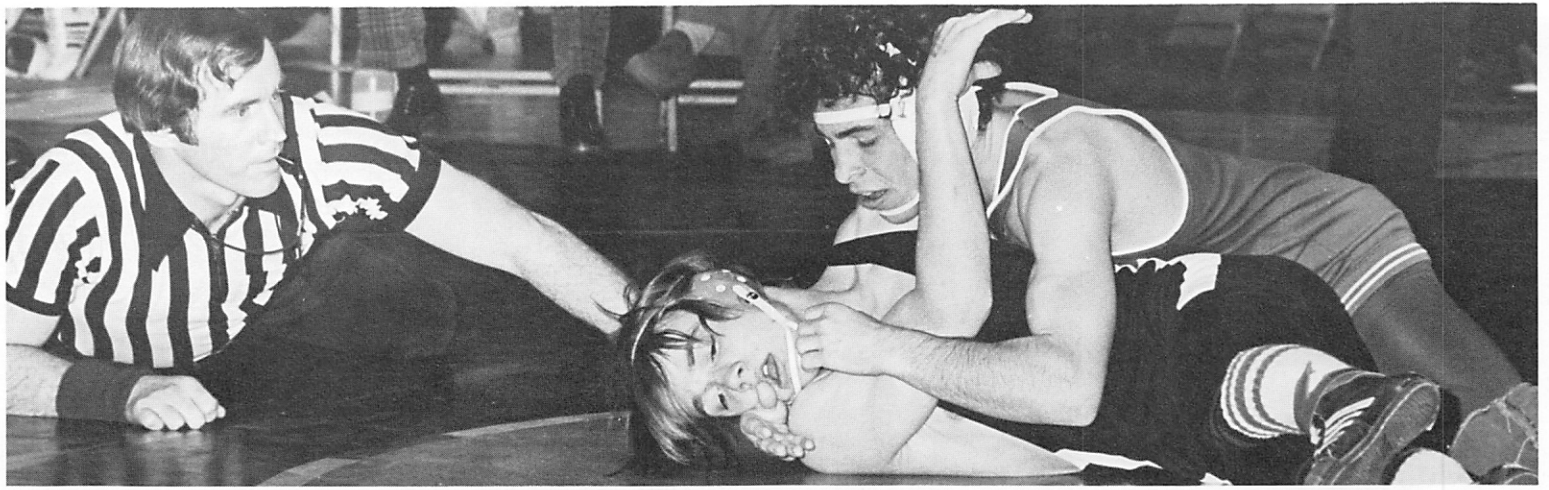

MAT NOTES — Behind Section Eight's seven team titles come Section Eleven (two, 1971, 1974), Four (two, 1965, 1969), Three (two, 1970, 1973) and Section Nine (1975) . . . Potsdam-10 is sending seven qualifiers to the 'States' but that section has always had difficulty scoring in Inter-sectional competition . . . Iacovelli has won nearly 100 straight bouts since losing to Jeff Thomas of Huntington-11 in the 1974 semifinals of the 98-pound class here . . . Grunwald's career record is 100-4 . . . If DeStefanis, Bury and Grunwald repeat, they'll join a list of past two-time state kings as follows: John Harris (Hempstead-8) in 1963-64, Ken Melchior (Lindenhurst-11) in 1964-65, Claude Poole (Ithaca-4) in 1965-66, John Sorochinsky (Union-Endicott-4) in 1965-66, Alan Stock (Mepham-8) in 1966-67, Jim Davis (Mt. Vernon-1) in 1966-67, Randy Payne (Sidney-4) in 1968-69, Lee Klepper (Suffern-9) in 1968-69, John Cuyler (Elmira Free-4) in 1970-71, Joe Goldsmith (Ramapo-9) in 1971-72, Bob Antonacci (Brentwood-11) in 1971-72, Steve Hunte (Bellmore JFK-8) in 1972-73, Tom Capone (Watertown-3) in 1972-73, Mark Mysnyk (Vestal-4) in 1973-74, Frank DeAngelis (Spencerport-5) in 1974-75, Jeff Thomas (Huntington-11) in 1974-75, Ithaca's Iacovelli (1975-76) and Joe Lidowski (West Babylon) in 1975-76.

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY WRESTLERS TO ATTEND

Assisting with the presentation of awards this year will be three members of the Syracuse University wrestling team who have earned trips to the 1977 NCAA championships in Oklahoma next week. GEORGE MEDINA and GUY DUGAS, former Section 3 champions and GENE MILLS, 1976 New Jersey state champion will do the honors of presenting this year's 1977 champions with their awards. Medina last week won the 134 lb. class and earned MOW honors, defeating Bob Sloan, former Section 6 champ in the semi's 15-7. Dugas formerly of Watertown finished 3rd at 126 and will be highly rated in Oklahoma. Viewing the N.Y.S. high school championships for his first time will be GENE MILLS, freshman sensation from New Jersey who won the 118 lb. title last weekend at Syracuse. Mills now has a season record of 22-2 with 10 pins and has won his last 18 matches. Syracuse and New York State wishes all three the best of luck in Oklahoma next weekend.

JOSEPH E. ANNARELLA

The Southern Tier Wrestling Officials Association members, high school wrestling coaches, and wrestlers were deeply saddened by the sudden death of Joseph E. Annarella, a fellow official and Athletic Director at Cassadaga Valley Central School.

Mr. Annarella in his thirty-years of high school athletics served as a coach and official. He gave not only his talents, but more importantly, set an example of good sportsmanship which has been and will be reflected through the athletes of this area for many years. He coached varsity football, wrestling, volleyball, and recently assumed the coaching responsibilities for the girls' basketball. Joe came to Cassadaga Valley as a physical education teacher and for the past five years taught health education as well.

All in all, Joe Annarella has set an example as a friend, sportsman, educator and leader in youth activities. His leadership will serve as a model and guide to all who have had the honor of knowing him.

Mark Iacovelli — New York's Finest (Ever?)

By Neil Kerr, Syracuse Post-Standard

Since New York began conducting these 'State Tournaments' back in 1963, a healthy platoon of superb wrestlers has competed in the 14 previous Intersectional events.

Can you remember these excellent graduates of New York Intersectionals — Tom Schlendorf of Calhoun-8, Carl Adams and Pete Galea of Brentwood-11, Bob Sloane of Niagara-Wheatfield-6, Willie Gadson of Huntington-11 and John Janiak of North Syracuse-3?

Those are a few of the New York stars who have later placed among the leaders at the NCAA Wrestling Championships. And there have been others. But the point is, this weekend you might be watching the finest wrestler ever produced in New York State — 119-pound Mark Iacovelli of Ithaca High-4.

Whoa, you say. That statement is a bit too strong, perhaps. But consider the evidence of what Iacovelli has already accomplished and judge for yourself.

TITLES: After losing a 1974 state semifinal bout to 98-pound champion Jeff Thomas of Huntington-11 in this building, senior Mark has gone undefeated ever since. He was State 105-pound champion as a 15-year-old sophomore, State 112-pound king last March as a 16-year-old junior.

WINS: Iacovelli recently set a New York State record for career wins, his ledger reading 127-1-1 heading into the Section Four Tournament. Mark has wiped away the former state record owned by Thomas of Huntington (who was 123-5-3) and had piled up 90 straight wins through the close of February.

EXPERIENCE: During the summer of 1974, Mark flew by himself to Japan to study the finer points of wrestling under Yoshiro Uetake, an Olympic champion who later was named coach of the Japanese team for the 1976 Olympics. Some time after Iacovelli returned, able veteran wrestling coach Orlando "Harpo" Turco of Ithaca remarked, "He's gone beyond me. There's not a thing more I can teach him."

TRAINING: In Ithaca, to be a Iacovelli is to be a wrestler. Dating back to 1948-49 when his uncle, James, was a two-time Section Four 154-pound champion, the Iacovelli family has been a prominent part of the mat sport in Ithaca. There have followed uncles, cousins and brothers — too numerous to list — competing for the Little Red wrestling team. Most have been coached by Turco, who is now in his 21st year.

This winter's unbeaten (15-0) Ithaca High team includes three Iacovelli brothers in the lineup — Mark plus 126-pound junior Jeff and 105-pound freshman Larry. The latter pair are progressing and may also qualify to compete in Syracuse. If not this year, probably next season.

SUMMER HONORS: When the U.S. Junior Olympics were staged in Ithaca in the summer of 1975, Mark entered and won the 115-pound crown. He won a spectacular bout over highly-regarded Steve Bastianelli of Georgetown, Delaware for the title. Today, Bastianelli is the 118-pounder for the powerful Lehigh University team which won the 'Eastens' here at Syracuse University last weekend.

GOALS: The best way to succeed in life is to set your goals high. Mark's goals are to advance to the top of the world, hopefully by 1980. Reports Turco, "Mark wants to be a four-time NCAA champion and he wants to win the Olympics in 1980."

If Iacovelli accomplishes even a portion of his goals, he may yet lay claim to being New York's Finest (Ever) wrestler.

The Ithaca senior's past achievements have already made him possibly the most prized wrestler in Empire State history. "He's the most sought-after wrestler in America," states Turco. "Every wrestling school in the country has been in touch. Not a few here and a few there. I mean ALL of 'em."

Coolly, Mark is weighing the offers of a college scholarship. Possibly he'll follow a trail blazed by many recent other New York wrestling stars and journey Westward for collegiate competition. (He's visited one Big Eight school already.) Or, maybe he'll stay in the East. As yet, Iacovelli is undecided.

Before leaving for college, there's that little 'mat-ter' of equalling the feat achieved heretofore only by West Genesee-3 lightweight Dan Hunt (1972-73-74), that of winning three straight New York mat crowns. (The Triple Crown) Even Iacovelli is no shoo-in. (You veteran spectators will recall how Huntington's Thomas lost his bid for a third straight title here last March when Steve Cavayero of Bellmore Kennedy-8 administered a stunning semifinal loss to his Long Island rival.)

No doubt, every fine 119-pounder here this weekend would treasure the prospect of a shocking similar win over Iacovelli.

If Iacovelli DOES capture a third straight championship here Saturday, will he be acclaimed as New York's Finest (Ever) wrestler? No, not yet. Still ahead are the NCAAs and perhaps the Olympic Games, which is no yellow brick road, for sure.

But someday, Iacovelli MIGHT yet be awarded that title by those of us who follow his progress through college — the title of New York's Finest (Ever).

WHO'S NUMBER ONE IN '77?

*By Steve Schuelein
 Syracuse Herald-Journal*

Three . . . Eleven . . . Nine . . . Eight . . . ?

The 15th annual Intersectional wrestling numbers game takes the spotlight at the Onondaga County War Memorial this weekend with the question 'Who's number one in '77?'

Those believing any section of New York State has dominated scholastic wrestling in recent years need only scan the list of Intersectional champions the past four years to realize how balanced and wide-spread the quality of the sport has become in the Empire State.

Section Three (host Central New York) won in 1973. Section Eleven (Suffolk County, L.I.) captured the title in 1974. Section Nine (Catskills-Rockland County area) surprised with a 1975 triumph. Section Eight (Nassau County, L.I.) was a convincing winner in 1976.

Since the Intersectional format went to a blind-draw seeding in 1970, the tourney has blossomed into one of the most interesting and attractive scholastic productions in New York State. At first the powers of the 1960's, which had perpetuated their stranglehold on supremacy by gaining the top seeds each following year, scoffed at the idea. But with the installation of a wrestleback system and the guarantee that previous Intersectional place-winners could not draw into each other's bracket, observers soon learned the 'blind draw' was the fairest system for all eleven sections. Intersectional chairman Reed Hawke of Jamesville-DeWitt, the driving force behind the success of the tournament and a man of unquestioned integrity, went so far as to have two Syracuse sports-writers pull numbers out of a box this past year to determine the 'blind draw.'

Since the inception of this system, no section has won the title more than two times — Three twice, Eight twice, Eleven twice, Nine once — and the tourneys have produced a series of blanket finishes so dramatic that Hollywood has asked for the scripts.

In 1972, Section Eight edged Section Five, 83½-82, for first place. In 1973, Section Three nudged Section Eleven, 96½-90, for top honors.

Two of the individual champions that year were Steve Hunte (Bellmore Kennedy-8) and Greg Stevens (Fulton-3), later named Outstanding Wrestler of the tourney. Both are now regulars — Hunte at 134 pounds, Stevens at 190 — for the University of Iowa, defending NCAA champion and ranked No. 1 in the nation this year as this program went to press.

In 1974 and '75, more than half the competing sections were separated by less than 25 points for the championship. In 1974, Section Eleven won with 98½ points, followed by Five (97), Six (93½), Three (88), Four (87) and Eight (81). In 1975, Nine won with 105 points, followed by Eight (97½), Four (97), Six (96½), Eleven (87½), Five (84½) and Three (82½).

Last year, however, green-jerseyed Nassau County, reverting to the form of the 1960's, scored the most one-sided victory since the tourney went to the blind-draw format. Section Eight crowned five individual champions and won by 40 points in a victory that was as emotional as it was lopsided.

The tournament program had been dedicated to Frank 'Sprig' Gardner, who died April 26, 1975. Gardner has been nicknamed 'The Father of New York State Wrestling' for his many years of coaching at Mephram High School in the Bellmore-Merrick Central High School District. Led by a Mephram wrestler, 145-pound champion Lee Spiegel (now wrestling for Rhode Island), Section Eight would have made Gardner proud with its decisive triumph. Joining Mephram's Spiegel on the champions' stand for Section Eight were Bob DeStefanis (Locust Valley, 98), Bob Bury (Calhoun, 105), Jim Slatery (Island Trees, 132) and Steve Insalaco (Farmingdale, 215).

Two of the biggest questions entering the '77 tourney are whether Ithaca wunderkind Mark Iacovelli (119) can become the second three-time champion in Intersectional history and who will succeed Huntington-11 as school champion. But the primary question concerns Section Eight, attempting to become the first repeat champ since it 'tripled' in 1966-67-68. Eight ruled the 1960's with five triumphs but has been forced to share the limelight in the 1970's. This weekend the results on the mats will answer the big question: is the trend the continued spread of the wealth across the state or is a renewed Section Eight dynasty in the offing?

CAMP PHILOSOPHY: We can not pretend to cover all phases of wrestling in one week. We feel that wrestling is a science and we teach it as a science.

All we teach is Movement. All instruction is progressed from one movement to another. We do not teach holds but instead concentrate on progression movement which is applicable to all phases of wrestling.
